Psion Memory

Solid State Disks (SSDs)

Unlimited Memory

Psion Solid State Disks (SSDs) are the ultimate in data security. There are no fragile moving parts and SSDs keep your valuable records far more secure than conventional floppy disks. Simply insert them into one, or both, of the expansion slots on your Series 3/3a/3c for more memory whenever you need it.

By freeing up your Internal memory, SSDs allow your Psion to handle more data and to perform at top speed. Powerful programs with heavy requirements for memory storage will never be a problem with SSDs. Enjoy total data integrity with easy backups. By routinely using SSDs for backups of all the important information stored in your Psion, you protect your files against accidental changes, deletion, loss or theft. Just as important, they are designed to withstand the extreme conditions that might destroy other types of storage media.

Large capacity SSDs offer more confidence.

One large capacity SSD can hold all the information and programs on your Psion. So there's no need for swapping disks.

Your data is all consolidated in one handy location. Use them to swap information with other Psions. Exchange schedules, spreadsheets or your address book with your business partner or any other Psion owner. Simply copy your data onto an SSD and hand it to the person with whom you want to share information. There's no need for laborious re-entry or complicated exchange procedures.

Choose the right SSD for your requirements

Flash SSDs - for maximum security. Flash SSDs require no battery to retain the data they store - and consequently provide complete data integrity and security. The data you store on them can be selectively deleted and the space is reclaimed when the SSD is reformatted - a simple, menu-controlled operation. Flash SSDs are ideally suited for storing important data which rarely changes.

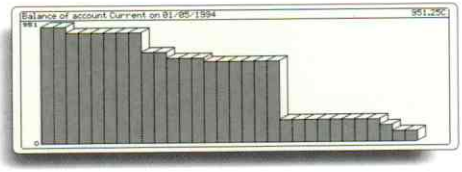
Finance Pack

Finance Pack 3/3a/3c is ideal for managing your bank account and credit cards, self-assessment for income tax purposes, small business accounts (without VAT), recording self-employed or property income, or reclaiming your expenses from your employer.

- Use Finance Pack 3/3a/3c to record transactions on your bank and credit card accounts, and you never need worry about going overdrawn unexpectedly. Avoid being charged unauthorised overdraft fees or paying unnecessary credit card interest.



- It divides your income and expenses into categories such as Salary, Household or Car Expenses, which allows you to track where your money goes and helps you keep to a budget.

- Print or display instant account balances or show account movement in graph form. Its graphs can show you how much you can expect to have in your account at the end of the month, bearing in mind your regular standing orders and direct debits.

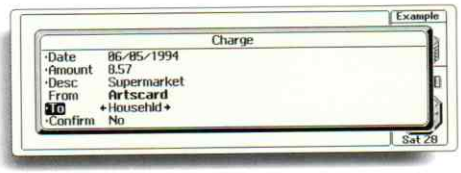
- Reconcile your bank and credit card statements easily, allowing you to check that your bank has made no errors.

- Password protection keeps your financial data secure. Finance Pack 3a can export data to Quicken™.

- All statements and reports have default and user-definable selection criteria. You can, for example, print out a report showing all the transactions described as "Wedding", even if the expenses for the wedding were made on several different accounts.

- Transactions can have auto-incrementing reference numbers (such as cheque numbers), blank or default descriptions and, fixed or varying debit/credit amounts.

- Two separate versions are supplied. Finance Pack 3 is for a Series 3 or Series 3s. It allows up to 24 accounts. Finance Pack 3a works on the Series 3a or 3c, and allows up to 60 accounts.



- Comes complete with a full English manual, written by Vic and Gill Gerhardi, authors of several guides to using Psion equipment.

- Do you remember to reclaim all your expenses? The special expenses monitor in Finance Pack counts how much you spend on behalf of a business or an employer. It numbers each receipt you collect, then prints out an expenses claim showing how much you are reclaiming, where and when you spent it and how much VAT is included in the total.

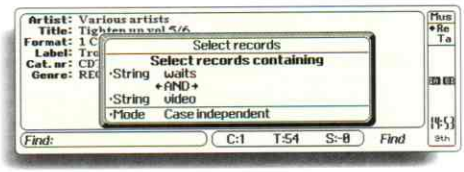
Database Products

DataDeluxe

A powerful new database program for the Series 3a/3c.

- Works instantly with all existing Psion database files.

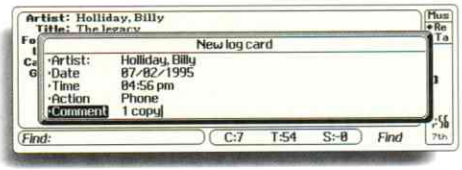


- DataDeluxe is designed to function in the same way as the built-in Data application, so the learning curve for new users is minimal.

- One of the main differences between DataDeluxe and the built-in Data application is the option to view files as comprehensive tables, rather than individual records. You can view the entire file as a table, or view selected records only. All tables can be sorted.

- An extremely fast alphabetical sort routine sorts large databases in seconds. You can set which field to sort on, and you can even sort selections you have just made and show them in the Table View Mode.

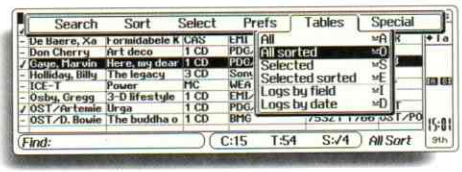
- Work with selections of your database. You can print, save, delete and perform many more functions with the selected records only, rather than with your entire file.



- Separate date and time logs with notes can be recorded, and viewed in a table sorted by date or field. Display information on work-in-progress, sales prospects, maintenance, etc. or keep track of the date and buying price of items in personal collections.

- Uses only 65 Kb of Internal memory!

- Includes a separate 3.5" disk which contains a PC database conversion utility, and a label and table printing program.



- Sorted records can be located by typing record details letter by letter ('match-as-you-type').

- Contains multiple search and select options. You can select records manually or use multiple search keys. You can link two search keys by the logic operators AND, OR, BUT NOT.

3Bar

3Bar is a user-configurable data collection package for the Psion Series 3/3a. When used in conjunction with the 3-Wand bar code reader for the Series 3, the package supports bar code data input/collection. Navplan

Navplan is an aviation package for pilots of all levels of experience, whether private or commercial. It provides the following functions and utilities:

- Creating routes. Navplan allows the creation of multi-sector routes which can be stored and recalled for future use. Comprehensive information about each sector is calculated and displayed on screen covering navigation information, fuel planning and aircraft weight and loading data.

- Calculating fuel. Fuel planning can use VFR or IFR rules to accommodate different types of flight operation. These rules are made as flexible as possible by the use of user-defined values which are specific to individual aircraft types, and allow for the inclusion of hold and contingency fuel reserves. Fuel and route planning also allow for the selection of alternates.

- Climb and descent. Climb/cruise/descent calculations providing Top of Climb and Top of Descent (with variable cruise fuel flows/speeds for altitude) can be carried out and included in the route. Accurate climb profile data can be entered for more complex aircraft types.

- Planning flexibility. All the variables calculated by Navplan for a particular sector can be overridden by the user to allow complete control over the final fuel plan.

- Display control. The main display can be modified to show as many different parameters as required, including take-off weights, landing weights, zero-fuel weights, nav information, crew weight and load breakdown. Warnings are given if maximum limits (either fuel or weights) are exceeded.

- Flight overview. Departure times can be set at any stage of the flight, providing a continual assessment of arrival times at each point in the route. The total cost for a flight can be calculated using up to four different cost categories for each sector. These categories are specific to individual aircraft and can be defined by the user. Routes can be printed onto various types of PLOG using a wide variety of printers. Navplan can be connected to GPS units which output data using the NMEA protocol.

- Aircraft information. New types can be added to the database of aircraft provided with Navplan. Information about aircraft is stored in two files - one containing general information about aircraft types such as cruise speeds, fuel flows and maximum weights, and a second file containing information about specific aircraft that are flown by the user, such as an aircraft's type, registration and basic weight.

- Supplied waypoints. Navplan is supplied in several database variants, depending on the area of its intended use. Waypoints within each database are grouped into different geographic regions which can be included or excluded from searches, providing fast access to up to twelve thousand waypoints (depending on variant), including airfields, heliports, VORs, NDBs and reporting points.

- Waypoint data. The waypoint database can be extended to include information on frequencies, runways, runway lengths and lighting, fuel availability, elevation and contact telephone numbers. Databases for various geographic regions are available, including specific databases for Europe and North America. A multi-line editor with cut/copy/paste/search facilities provides the ability to enter substantial text notes about waypoints. All this extra information can be accessed from within the route.

- User waypoints. User waypoints can be created from either a latitude and longitude, a bearing and distance from a known waypoint, or a National Grid Reference (UK Waypoints only).

- Weight and Balance. An editor is provided to allow the creation of as many different configurations and envelopes as are required for an aircraft type. Envelopes and C of G positions are displayed on screen and checked for unsafe positions for the duration of the flight. Warnings are issued if C of G limits fall outside an envelope's limits. Station associations allow intelligent loading for passengers, baggage, cargo, fuel and crew using standard or user-defined weights.

- Performance. Performance information for certain light aircraft is included, providing take-off and landing data for current weather conditions and aircraft weights.

- Commercial Performance. Performance modules for commercial operations for aeroplanes or helicopters can be produced, and are capable of being incorporated into company Operations Manuals and approved by the relevant authorities. Contact us directly for more details.

- Utilities. A range of utilities are provided - conversions (weight, volume, distance, temperature and pressure), morse test/decode, Critical Point, Point of No Return, crosswind, sunrise/sunset, notes editor, airspeed and altitude utilities.

Navplan is approved by the Aircraft Owners & Pilots Association and the British Helicopter Advisory Board.

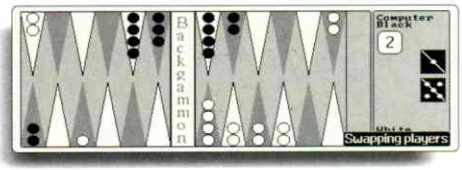
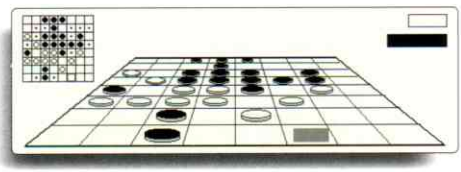
When the time for work is over, play the Widget Games Pack 3a. Includes no less than 8 exciting and innovative games, from backgammon to a haunted castle, from a one-arm bandit to logical puzzles. This pack has it all.

- BACKGAMMON - plays to the authentic rules and allows you to play against another player or against the computer at one of its four skill levels. Other features include hints, stored game statistics, undo last move, save game and sound on/off.



- BANDIT - "an impressive version of a one-arm bandit or fruit machine, which I have tried on addicts and noted their complete approval" according to the International Psion User Group.

- REVERSI - the classic game of logic, otherwise known as Othello. The rules can be learned in two minutes, but the tactics can take forever to master.

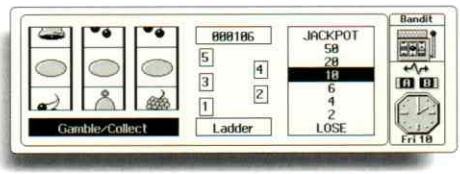


- CASTLE - a full text adventure game set in or around a deserted castle. You will need logic, cunning, lateral thinking and a sense of humour.

- POKER - the original 5 card gambling game against the ultimate opponent - your Series 3 will show no emotion! Excellent for practising your poker skills without having to lose megabucks!

- SOLO - Solitaire is not the only game in town when you have Widget Games, but this implementation of klondike patience will keep you busy for many hours. Cheat mode included.

- UXB - a frantic race against time to defuse the unexploded bombs before they detonate (also known as MineSweeper). Be careful: one false move and the bombs will detonate, losing you the game.



- QUAD - a shape fitting logical conundrum to tax those little grey cells! This is a game which starts at a hard level and gradually works up to the impossible. Good for developing your spatial skills!

- Widget Games comes in two different versions, one for the Series 3a/3c only and one for the Series 3/3s. Screenshots shown are from the Widget Games 3a.

Information Superhighway!

There are a growing number of resources available for Psion owners who are 'on-line'. All you really need is a modem (e.g. the 3Fax) and your Series 3a, but it does make things a bit easier if you've got access to a fast modem and a desktop machine as well! Here are some of the stopping points you may want to try out in your search for Psion news, chat, support and shareware:

- Compuserve: This is really a big global network of its own, and isn't actually part of the 'Internet', although it does allow full access to the World-Wide-Web and all the other Internet features, such as email. Compuserve has a large range of forums and databases, of which the 'Palmtop' forum is the most interesting. When on-line, do 'GO PALMTOP' for more information. If you use the Series 3a itself for going on-line, note that there is a Series 3a program designed for Compuserve access, called READCIS, and you can download this from the 'Psion Files' library in the forum.
- CIX: This is another large system that has its own range of services, the main difference being that it's UK-only. Once on-line, join the 'psion' conference. If you access it using the Series 3a itself, note that the access package for CIX is called READCIX and can be downloaded from the 'files' flist within the conference.
- Internet: If you have 'raw' access, you will want to check out the 'comp.sys.psion.misc' and 'comp.binaries.psion' newsgroups.

The Web page to try is:
http://ourworld.compuserve.com/homepages/slitchfield

- Bulletin Boards: There are several which stock Psion files, perhaps the best place to start with is the "user group" board on +44 (0)1752 894422.

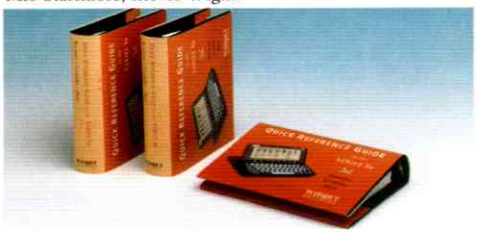
For the full story on how to use the different applications inside the Series 3a, you need the Widget Quick Reference Guide. This take-anywhere guide is printed on A6 loose leaf pages and comes in its own filofax-style ring binder.

- It takes you through all the features of the Series 3a, from the System screen to the Spreadsheet, explaining clearly and concisely how they are used.
- Recent customers have commented favourably on both its format and its content:

"The size is very useful .... it fits the plain English campaign ... it explains very sensibly and it's possible to go through in stages. It's something that everybody can learn from and it keeps disappearing from my desk on account of my partner's interest."
Dr S Gregory, Northampton.

"At the end of each chapter I find the shortcuts useful."
Mrs Starsmore, Isle of Wight.



- This and all other Widget Software products are described in Widget News, our twice yearly publication. Call, fax or email us your address for your free copy and information pack.
